OUR MISSION

"The City of St. Charles Parks and Recreation Department provides parks, facilities and programs to enrich the quality of life for residents and visitors, while preserving green space for future generations to enjoy."

FROM THE PARKS OFFICE

WELCOME SPRING & HELLO SUMMER!

Parks and recreation are more than places on a map, they are the heartbeat of our community. They are where goals are scored, friendships are formed and sunsets are shared. They are where we gather to celebrate, heal, move and simply refresh.

For some, the "Why" is family — weekends at the playground or cheering from the sidelines. For others, it's wellness — a quiet trail at sunrise, a fitness class that builds strength and confidence, or the simple joy of being outdoors. Maybe your "Why" is connection — meeting neighbors, discovering new passions, or giving back through community programs.

Parks and recreation exist because everyone deserves spaces that inspire belonging, growth, and joy. They are where memories are made and where community becomes more than a word — it becomes an experience.

So, I invite you to reflect and share: What's your Why? What brings you to our parks, programs, and places? What keeps you coming back? On page 4, we begin our journey of sharing Why and how you can participate.

Your story is what gives our work meaning. Together, we'll continue creating spaces and experiences that matter — for every age, every stage, and every reason. We can't wait to hear your Why we are An Extension of Your Own Backyard!

WHAT'S YOUR WHY?

"What's Your Why?" is a new initiative by St. Charles Parks and Recreation that celebrates the many reasons people connect with our parks, programs, and community spaces. Whether it's creating family traditions, staying active and healthy, meeting new friends or connecting with old ones, or embracing nature and the life within it, everyone has a unique reason that brings them to our parks. Throughout the year, you'll see residents, staff, and Parks and Recreation Board members sharing their personal stories and experiences.

We invite you to follow along, engage with our stories, and share your own. These are your parks, built on shared experiences and community pride. Your story matters—and together, our "whys" help inspire the future of Parks and Recreation in St. Charles. Take some time to read a few of our community member's 'whys'. Ready to share your why? Email us at info@stcharlesparks.com or scan the QR code.

"Living near a City Park (Wapelhorst Park) lets me see its impact every single day. I watch neighbors walking their dogs, kids biking to play, sports teams practicing and community groups, from HOAs to Scouts, gathering to connect. Parks are more than green spaces; they're essential for exercise, exploration, belonging and recharging.

When I need a break, I know a quick walk in our Parks is in order; it helps me reset and reminds me of why these spaces are so vital to our community. Parks provide a place for physical activity, connection and mental well-being...all in ONE spot.

I'm grateful for our 26 City Parks and am honored to serve as Council Liaison on the Parks Board, along with some amazing volunteers and a dedicated staff. We are continually looking at ideas and amenities that will keep our Parks welcoming, active, and thriving."

Denise Mitchell, St. Charles City Council Member, Ward 5. Parks and Recreation Board Council Liaison.

"There is no better way to start a summer day than with a refreshing walk at the Wapelhorst Riverwalk program with great friends. We've both had Riverwalk passes for many years and enjoy the early morning exercise, as well as socializing with friends. The park staff is amazing, and we realize how lucky we are to have such a facility in our community. Counting down the days till it opens again Memorial Day weekend!"

Geri Shelburg & Darla Afflick

"I travel with Parks to meet new friends and laugh with the old ones; who are now like family. Their trips are always safe and well-organized, which makes being a single traveler even easier. The staff works hard to include unique destinations, enjoyable and informative experiences, and the most delicious food! I'm always looking forward to my next adventure!"

ST. CHARLES MAINTENANCE - THIS ISN'T THEIR FIRST RODEO!

After weeks of hard work clearing snow in early January, our Parks Maintenance staff had the opportunity to enjoy some well-earned fun this winter. For the past six years, the City of St. Charles Parks Maintenance Crew has participated in an annual competition with neighboring parks departments known as the Maintenance Rodeo. This event is a collaboration between the City of St. Charles Parks and Recreation Department, St. Charles County Parks, and the Missouri Park and Recreation Association (MPRA). The Maintenance Rodeo brings together parks maintenance professionals from across the St. Louis region to showcase their skills, connect with colleagues, and compete for bragging rights - and a traveling trophy - in a variety of hands-on, skills-based challenges.

While the specific events vary from year to year, the Maintenance Rodeo is designed to challenge participants while highlighting their expertise in a safe, fun, and engaging environment. Each team consists of three to five members from the various departments, and this year's event included more than 80 participants. The competition featured five events, each requiring one or two team members, and individuals could compete in up to three events.

The first event was the backpack blower course, where competitors used a backpack blower to carefully guide a tennis ball through an obstacle course. Participants maneuvered the ball up ramps, through pipes, and between chair legs, finishing by stopping it completely within a small taped square as quickly as possible. Speed and precision were key to success.

Next came an equipment relay challenge. Two team members took turns navigating an obstacle course using park maintenance equipment. One competitor operated a zero-turn mower through the course and back to the starting point, followed by their teammate on a stand-on riding sprayer. Fast times, along with careful navigation to avoid knocking tennis balls off cones and trash cans, determined the winners. The third event featured a skid steer challenge, where a single competitor operated a skid steer to place stacked pallets, spools, and kettlebells in a specific order without hitting any obstacles. As with other events, the fastest and cleanest run earned the top score.

The final two events required pairs of competitors. In the fourth event, team members followed a wiring diagram to correctly wire a two-switch lighting circuit, racing to activate a light bulb in the shortest amount of time. The final challenge was a trailer-pull obstacle course, where two team members worked together to pull a 12-foot trailer using a John Deere Gator UTV through a figure-eight course. Competitors navigated around cones topped with tennis balls and finished by backing the trailer into position as close as possible to a final obstacle without touching it.

Overall, all the teams had a great time participating and putting their skills to the test. This year, Washington, Missouri Parks and Recreation earned the team victory. Washington, along with the second-place team from Wentzville, advanced to compete against the top teams from the other regional rodeos at the MPRA State Conference in February for the state championship. While the City of St. Charles Parks and Recreation team did not place first overall, they proudly earned second place in the skid steer competition—and took home plenty of great memories to carry into next year's Maintenance Rodeo.

A bit of Park History...

For more than a century, the St. Charles Parks and Recreation Department has grown along with the City itself. This evolution began in 1914 with the purchase of Blanchette Park. That early investment set the tone for a community committed to quality recreation and ultimately guided the system's development as the city grew.

During the 1920s and 1930s, Blanchette Park grew into a lively community hub. In 1922, the City Council appointed a citizen Administrative Board to oversee the park and guide its future expansion. Over the next several years, new amenities including tennis courts, playgrounds, horseshoe courts, and the World War I Memorial Hall helped transform the park. Residents enjoyed camping, band concerts, dances, and picnics; activities that further strengthened the park's role in everyday life. A major milestone came in 1937 with the opening of the city's first municipal swimming pool, funded through a combination of local bonds and federal assistance.

As the city grew through the mid-20th century, the park system grew alongside it. Baseball fields in Blanchette Park led to busy nights at the park with young ball players competing, then lining up at the concession stand for soda's and snow cones (maybe even a milk shake if you hit a homerun). Carnivals with Ferris wheels and other exciting rides of the time were contracted during the summer months for family entertainment. Along with the additions to Blanchette Park and a new swimming pool at Boone's Lick Park, new land acquisitions, including McNair, Jaycee, and Wapelhorst reflected the evolving recreational needs of the community.

In the early 1980's, recreational programming became a greater priority for the Park Board. The hiring of a Recreation Superintendent was approved, and specialty programming quickly expanded. Over the next decade, new offerings emerged, including day trips, expanded youth sports, and creative programs such as babysitting clinics, hair braiding workshops, and Jazzercise. This shift marked the beginning of more modern, diverse recreational programming that deepened community engagement. By 1990, the Department consisted of 17 parks across 380 acres, each offering a range of amenities and programs for residents of all ages.

By the late 1990s and 2000s, the Department continued to improve and add infrastructure. Aquatic facilities were updated, athletic complexes were enhanced, and greenways were expanded to connect with regional trail systems, including the Katy Trail. New Parks were added to the system, including Eco Park, Webster and Fountain Lakes ensuring St. Charles remained at the forefront of parks planning.

As of this year, 134 St. Charles city residents have served on the Parks and Recreation Board, helping shape a park system that has grown into a community asset featuring 26 parks across more than 600 acres, 25 miles of trails with year-round sports and recreational opportunities. As the department celebrates the 50th anniversary of the Summer Fun Day Camp this year, it continues to look toward the future with the same spirit that guided its past. With new parks such as Pundmann Nature Park and Legacy Farms Park now in development, the St. Charles Parks & Recreation Department remains committed to expanding opportunities for play, discovery, and community connection, carrying forward a legacy built through more than a century of shared memories and community pride.

A Trip Around the Sun in Parks Maintenance: Part 2

In part 1, we explored all the different things Parks Maintenance does throughout the winter months and into spring, including planning future projects, cleaning and updating rental buildings, plowing snow, prepping ball fields, and planting trees and flowers.

After a winter of preparation and a busy spring ramp-up, summer is when Parks Maintenance truly shines. Throughout the summer months, our maintenance team works across every corner of the park system. From daily responsibilities, such as opening and cleaning restrooms, mowing and trimming grass, grooming and preparing athletic fields, watering trees and plants, and collecting trash, to periodic tasks like playground inspections and repairs, pool cleaning and maintenance, and supporting annual events and festivals, our parks maintenance team plays a role.

Many of these efforts happen “behind-the-scenes”, like our early morning crews that open parks and restrooms before visitors arrive, or event support staff who assist organizers and patrons by preparing park grounds, stages, and rental facilities, then handling cleanup and breakdown afterward. Some of our summer maintenance staff duties are highly visible, like our athletic field crews lining and grooming ball diamonds during tournaments or our on-call maintenance team responding to issues like an electrical outage during rentals or events to restore power.

As Summer transitions into Fall, maintenance operations continue, with subtle shifts in focus. Once the grass stops growing and trees change color and drop leaves, our mowing team shifts from cutting and trimming to leaf collection and mulching, while our horticulturalists shift from watering and weeding to pruning trees. The restroom crews shift towards deep cleaning and winterizing our seasonal restrooms. The Fall remains a very active time for sports, recreation, rentals, and events in the parks, and maintenance staff continue to support those activities. They also take on a more educational role, leading fall birding walks, tree identification and wildflower programs, as well as indoor workshops like our container planting and design.

As the Fall fades into Winter, the season becomes a time of reflection and planning. Maintenance staff often spend this time reviewing the status of annual goals, adjusting efforts where needed, and preparing for the following year. In the end, our maintenance team works year-round to ensure each visitor’s park experience is as safe, welcoming, and enjoyable as possible.

50 Years Strong

How Summer Fun Day Camp Comes to Life Each Summer

DAY CAMP 1976 - FIRST GROUP OF COUNSELORS

DAY CAMP 1976

DAY CAMP 1976

DAY CAMP 1976

As the hiring process for our 2026 Summer Fun Day Camp has recently begun, it has me reflecting on this program and what it has done for our community. As I check in with the Camp Counselors from last summer, I am reminded of the connections I witnessed them make with children that attended camp. I am reminded of an excited high-five after a win in a camp activity, countless field trip adventures and hours spent splashing in the pool and the tearful goodbyes and hugs when another summer has come to an end. It brings me pride and a sense of responsibility to know these countless memories I have been fortunate enough to witness are drops in the bucket of all those made within the St. Charles Parks and Recreation's 50 years of the Summer Fun Day Camp Program and must be maintained for future generations.

In 1976, the first ever summer recreation program for school age children was held in Blanchette Park and McNair Park. This camp ran for 6 weeks through the summer and offered sports, swimming, crafts and field trips. And with that, a tradition began and is still going strong to this day with camp continuing at Blanchette Park and now Wapelhorst Park. To me, what is special about this longstanding program isn't just how much it has grown throughout the years but the traditions and value that have been preserved over time and how many people in our community have contributed or been impacted by this day camp.

I often say that preparing for and overseeing our Summer Fun Day Camp program is never-ending and a year-around process. Each summer's planning occurs while the prior summer is underway, learning where adjustments can be made and hearing new ideas from parents, staff, campers, the community, other areas of the department and other leaders from similar organizations. At the end of each summer, we receive survey results from parents and staff members to bring in additional feedback and perspective from all sides of the program which gets the next summer's planning off and running again. Day Camp Directors work early in the year to prepare daily rotation schedules with activities and games, including new themes and ideas each summer. Often, those leadership staff members helping prepare and run camp have attended camp as a child or spent many summers working in our parks. They use what they have learned and enjoyed throughout the years to create special plans for their campers in the upcoming summer.

Along with hiring and training staff, a big part of my preparation process of camp is planning our weekly field trips. We travel to a new location every week throughout the 12-week program. Some weeks we visit different locations for specific age groups so that campers can enjoy an adventure specific to their interests. With both camps traveling to the same field trip locations on separate days, as to not exceed most capacities (not to mention the way we can overwhelm a movie theatre concession stand!), there will be over 25 separate trips to be planned and arranged for the summer of 2026. Throughout the years, planning field trips has become one of my favorite parts of my job. It has been fun creating connections with the staff at frequent destinations like the lovely people at the family-owned Great Skate and Tina at The Rafting Company who we book our annual 12-14's Float Trip with in Steeleville, Missouri every year.

As we prepare for the 50th year of summer camp at St. Charles Parks and Recreation, our department is filled with excitement and pride to continue this program and we invite you and your family to join in this tradition with us. While this program may evolve and expand over time, at its heart will always be a summer filled with friends, adventure, splashes (sometimes a little sweatiness!) and excitement for the next summer's arrival!

Honoring Heroes Through Fitness

The most recent winner of our ICONS category was Blake Whitney, recognized for his photo of the pull-up bar located in Frontier Park. While many people see the bar as a simple fitness feature, few know the meaningful story behind its creation.

Matt Reynolds and Jay Humphrey served together in the United States Marine Corps and have been close friends for more than 40 years. United by their shared service and love of fitness, they regularly train using a CrossFit workout known as "The Murph." This well-known hero workout honors Medal of Honor recipient Lt. Michael Murphy of SEAL Team 10.

Inspired by Murphy's legacy, Matt and Jay set out to install pull-up bars along the Katy Trail to both commemorate the heroic actions of Lt. Murphy and his team, and to encourage physical fitness within the community.

The first pull-up bar was installed in Defiance, Missouri, directly behind the train caboose adjacent to the Katy Trail. Its plaque honors the memory of Lt. Michael Murphy. The second pull-up bar, located in Frontier Park, is dedicated to Matt Axelson, a member of the same SEAL Team who was posthumously awarded the Navy Cross. The third pull-up bar can be found at the Eco Park trailhead and honors Danny Dietz, also part of the mission and a Navy Cross recipient.

Next time you pass one, take a moment to remember their legacy, and maybe test your strength in their honor.

NEW PROJECT - MAIBAUM POLE IN FRONTIER PARK

Nearly 40 years ago, Joe Daues - founder of the Saint Charles Sister Cities organization - dreamed of bringing a Maibaum Pole to Saint Charles. That vision is finally becoming a reality through collaboration between the Saint Charles Oktoberfest Board of Directors, Craftsmen Industries, and the Saint Charles Parks and Recreation Department. A centuries-old German tradition, the Maibaum is a decorated pole celebrating local trades, culture, and community pride. The new Maibaum in Frontier Park will honor this heritage and the story of Saint Charles itself, featuring plaques created with the Saint Charles County Historical Society that highlight key moments in local history and connect visitors to interactive digital storytelling. More than a park feature, this Maibaum is a legacy project—a symbol of what can be achieved when community groups, nonprofits, businesses, and residents unite around a shared vision. When unveiled in 2026 during the 40th Anniversary of Saint Charles Oktoberfest, it will stand as a lasting tribute to heritage, unity, and civic pride for generations to come. Join this legacy—scan the QR code to donate through the purchase of personalized brick pavers that will surround the Maibaum Pole.
